Dear Graduates:

The decade of the 90's, and the fast approaching new century, will bring profound alterations to the American Society. As the first graduating class of the 90's, you will be called upon to deal with these significant changes. Your investment of time, effort and sacrifice at Westfield State College was a commitment to educational excellence. And your payoff will be realized for decades.

I will remember you as the first graduating class during my tenure at the College. Personally, I want to thank the student leadership for helping to make my first semester at Westfield State College one which was both educational and rewarding. I challenge all of you to take a leadership role in shaping our new environment and responding to the needs of our society.

I hope you will fondly remember your days at Westfield State College, and I encourage you to remain active with the College by participating in our Alumni Association. We need your time and experience to build an even better College for future students.

GOODBYE AND THANKS

Dr. Randolph W. Bromery
Interim President
September 1988 - January 1990

Dr. Randolph W. Bromery contributed insightful and steady leadership to Westfield State College in his tenure as our President.

In turn, Dr. Bromery expressed pleasure at being a part of a campus which allowed him "to know students by name." He said also that he appreciated the "team" efforts of those he worked with.

Though he left our campus, he renewed his dedication to Westfield State and all of public higher education as Chancellor of the Board of Regents of Higher Education.

His parting words at his farewell reception could be taken to heart by the faculty, the Class of 1990, and each successive class: "The presidents are not the college. You are the college. You provide the continuity," he said.

Our parting words to him: "Thank you."

Special

Massachussetts exchange students hit Platteville

Kristina Jackivicz and Christine McGannon participate in university program

By Sean O'Ren
Reporter

There's been a recent change in our student body. Two UW-P students exchanged with a couple of Massachusetts college students. Lexa Speth and Bob Day left last Thursday night for Westfield University, and Kristina Jackivicz and Christine McGannon came here from the same college, all as a result of the exchange program that is supported between the two institutions.

The Massachusetts Exchange, a fifteen year old program, has annually helped introduce four different students, two from Wisconsin and two from Massachusetts, to each others' unique lifestyles and cultures.

Kriss Wittmann, one of the program's workers, noted that "The kids that come from Massachusetts are excited about the farm and country life . . . the quiet and nature that is part of the country provides."

The requirements (for anyone interested) are fairly simple. The student should be a second semester sophomore or junior, and have a G.P.A. of 2.25 or better. The costs for everything are the same (room and board, tuition), so any extra expense would involve travel to/from Westfield, and sight-seeing costs, for anyone wanting to tour the coast while attending.

Left to Dan Larson, president of the Exchange Club, Kristina Jackivicz and Christine McGannon, both from Massachusetts. Kriss Wittmann, advisor of the National Exchange Club, and Lexa Speth and Bob Day, UWP students who have gone to Massachusetts.

Westfield is only about 3500 students. Not to sound disconcerting, but if you expect to attend a metropolis, then this may be a factor in your decision. Also, "there is a faster pace of life out in the East", said Wittmann. But if you are interested in the chance to travel and attend a university on the East Coast, the office is accepting applications for the fall semester after Spring Break.

This semester, Speth, a sophomore English major, and Day, a senior Broadcasting major, participated in the exchange. As an academic trade, Jackivicz, a senior Regional Planning major, and McGannon, a junior majoring in Business Administration will attend UW-P. The east coast students had much to say about the difference in culture between the areas.

"I didn't think it would be this big," remarked McGannon. "The land is really flat here, and people from Wisconsin don't think anything about driving six hours to get somewhere. We just have to drive for an hour or two." There was also the change in food and drink.

"Everyone back home wants us to send back cheese and brats," said Jackivicz. "We'd never had brats before we came here. And beer is cheaper here, too," she added, laughing.

The two will be attending until the end of the semester, when they return home to Massachusetts.

When asked about the atmosphere of the college, Jackivicz said "we like it. Everyone here is really friendly. There's a lot more guys, too." It must be one of those benefits that they fail to tell you about in the brochure.

BRIDGEWATER

Football (3-7 overall, 3-3 conference)

Despite suffering the first losing season in four years, the Fighting Owls finished in a three-way tie for second place in the sixth division of the New England Football Conference.

The Owls had trouble putting points on the board, scoring only 12 touchdowns (8 by the offense), but the defense was again stingy, ranking fourth in the 13-team conference.

Westfield's aggressive defense was led by All America linebacker Pat Donoghue, who set school records for most tackles in game (22), season (131) and career (419). Donoghue was the only Westfield player named first team all conference and he also was a first team all-star in the ECAC New England region which is comprised of 8 teams.

Other defensive stalwarts were linebacker Lou DeNofrio, who received the Coach's Most Improved Player Award; hard-hitting senior linebacker Al LaPorte, junior tackle Steve Duffy and junior cornerback Chuck Carucci, who set a school record for most career interceptions (16).

The Owls had several bright spots offensively. Sophomore Jim Parker was a second team ECAC all star and finished third in the nation in punt return yards per carry (17.2). Sophomore Jamie Shankle totaled more than 1,000 all purpose yards, including a school record 363 yards in kickoff returns to earn honorable mention All America status. Junior barefooted kicker Bert Rovetto was a key addition to the team, as he kicked winning field goals in a wild 3-0 overtime victory over Southeastern Mass. and a 22-21 homecoming win over Worcester State.

Men's Soccer (6-13 overall, 3-4 conference)

The men's soccer team, with one returning starter, suffered only the second losing season in the 26-year history of the program. The young and inexperienced Owls practiced and played under the capable guidance of John Kurty, who returned as interim coach because of the sudden resignation of Jim Fonte, the coach for the previous 11 seasons. Jake Socha, a Ludlow native and Springfield College graduate who served as the assistant coach, was named the head coach for the 1990 campaign.

Westfield's tough grind this season included losses in Colorado to three nationally ranked teams. The Owl booters were led by team captains Mike Breslin and Glen Feldmann, both all conference honorable mention. Breslin, an academic All America nominee, finished his fine four-year career with school records for most saves in a season (221) and career (392).

Women's Soccer (13-4-1 overall, 2-1 conference)

Women's soccer was the most successful fall sports team, charting school records for most wins in a season (13), consecutive wins (7), longest unbeaten streak (10) and goals (48). Despite their impressive numbers, the Lady Owls booters of veteran coach Bob Harrington were once again snubbed by the NCAA and ECAC postseason selection committees.

Seven of the 11 starters were all conference. First team selections were senior forward Sue Mathewson, the leading scorer; sophomore forward Celine Carroll, senior back Lori Harpin, a three-time all conference pick,and sophomore midfielder Lynne Cusick. Cusick, who set school records for most assists in a season (13) and career (19), also was named second team All New England for the second straight year.

Honorable mention all conference were junior goalie Lisa Dolan, senior back Deb Trainor and senior midfielder Nina MacAleese.

The Lady Owls have a solid nucleus returning as they go after their fifth straight winning season. Darlene Tracy, Kim Hatstat, Kris Murray, Trish Censullo, Lorri Allard and Dianna McGibney are some of the players to watch for in 1990.

Men's Basketball
(10-14 overall, 5-7 conference)

The Owls' rollercoaster season ended with a disappointing one-point loss to Worcester State in the opening round of the inaugural conference postseason tournament. Before that, they had posted one of best records in the second half of league play, a 4-2 mark that included a stunning upset victory at Salem State.

Seniors Sean Williams and Chris Montemayor provided Westfield fans with plenty of thrills, and their talents and leadership will be missed next year. Montemayor, Westfield's only four-year player, received just recognition for his work ethic as he was named first-team all conference. The point guard from Holyoke set a school career assists record (297).

Williams, a high-flying 6-4 forward by Brooklyn, poured in 1,020 points in just two years at WSC. Williams was the conference's leading scorer and 22nd in the nation with a 22.3 average. Williams was second team all conference and also earned national and ECAC player of the week honors.

Women's Basketball
(12-13 overall, 6-6 conference)

The Westfield State women's team had a successful season despite a roster of only eight players, all of whom were freshmen or sophomores; it advanced to the semifinals of the post-season tournament before losing to conference champ Salem.

Sophomore Ellen Carey made an immediate impact in her first year of collegiate ball, as she was first team all conference and the league's leading scorer and second leading rebounder. The 5-10 forward from Weymouth set school records for consecutive free throws made (17), game field goal percentage (10 of 11, .909) and steals in a season (87).

Sophomore forward Chris Coates, sophomore guard C.C. Coughlan and freshman forward Easter Connolly also were among the conference leaders in statistical categories. Coates was a second team all conference pick.

Field Hockey

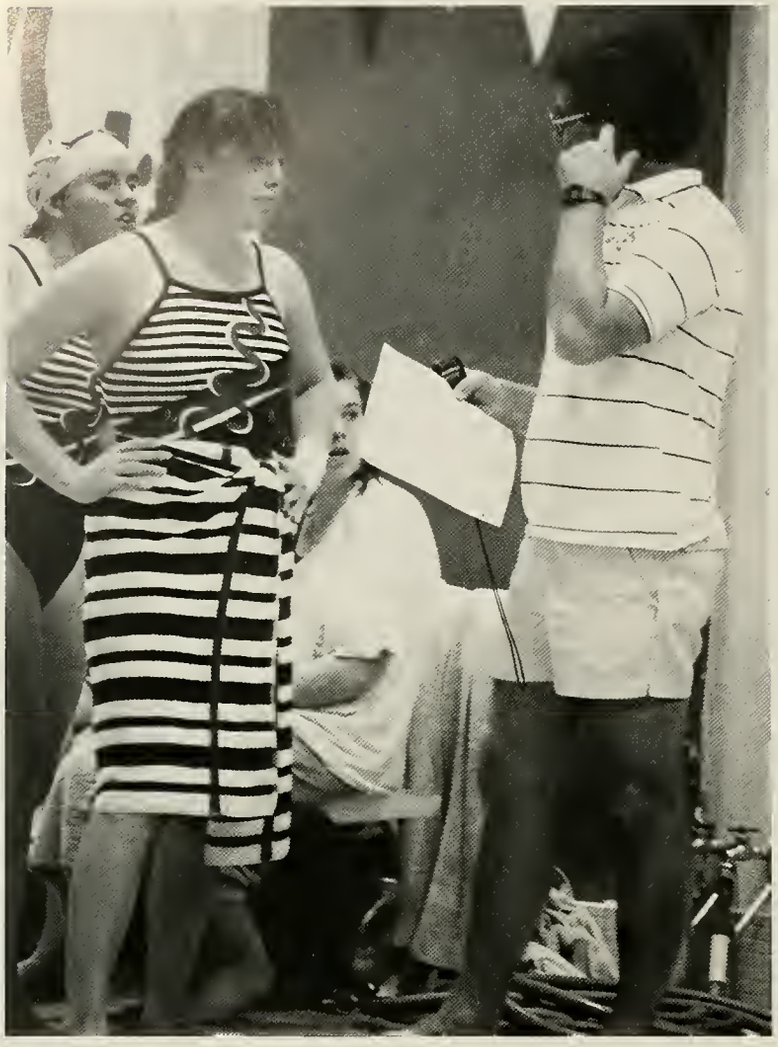
Field Hockey (8-6 overall, 4-1 conference)

The field hockey team lost some key games early in the season to get knocked from the postseason playoffs, but it did bounce back to post its third straight winning season and finish second in the conference. The highlight of the season was a 3-1 victory over a Bridgewater club which placed second in the ECAC tournament.

Five players were honored by the all conference selection committee. First team picks were sophomore forward Heather Cabral, the team's leading scorer; junior Sharon Underwood, the team's No. 2 scorer, senior back Laura Mahoney, the team MVP; and senior back Shelley Olson, who had a team-high 14 defensive saves. Senior back MaryAnn Pelligrinelli was all conference honorable mention and a second team regional All America for the second straight year.



Swimming
(4-4 overall record)

The Aqua Owlettes of veteran coach Dave Laing had several outstanding individual efforts during the 1989-90 season. Junior diver Lori Vincent became Westfield's first All America swimmer, as she was accorded honorable mention status for placing 11th on the 3 meter board at the Division III national championships. The All New England performer was 17th on the 1 meter board at the NCAA finals.

Freshman diver Shannon Tatlow was awarded All New England status, while senior Lorri LaMagdelaine capped her outstanding career with eight individual school records. LaMagdelaine and Vincent also were Academic All America nominees.

Men's Cross Country
(Mass. state champion)

For the seventh straight season the Running Owls brought the first place trophy back to Westfield as they ran past the conference opposition by placing four in the top six. All conference certificates were awarded to senior Chris Kiatos, the individual champ, junior Lance Campbell (second), sophomore Tom Maher (third) and senior Kevin O'Brien (sixth).

Campbell also crossed the finish line first to lead Westfield to the team title in the Amherst Invitational. The Owls concluded the season by placing 13th in the 31-team New England Division III championships.

Women's Cross Country
(Mass. state co-champion)

The Lady Owls were small in numbers, with only five women on the roster, but they had the talent to finish in a dead heat for the conference crown with Salem State. All conference runners were Lorien O'Connor (fourth), Linda Phillips (fifth) and Deb Marseglia (seventh). Westfield also finished second in the Amherst Invitational and 11th out of 27 teams in the New England Division III championships.

Women's Cross Country

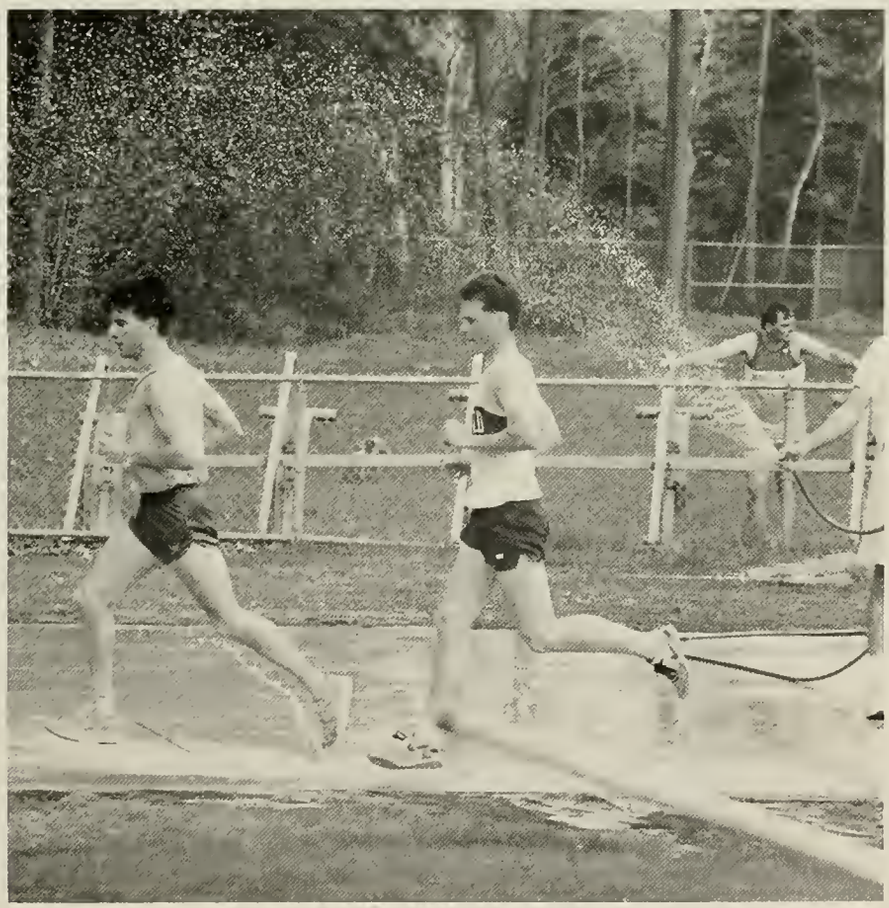
Men's Indoor Track and Field

Veteran coach Jerry Gravel's Running Owls prepped for their spring season with a solid showing during the winter months. Westfield finished sixth in the New England Division III championships and 23rd in the NCAA Division III championships.

Miles Woodhouse (triple jump) and Lance Campbell (800) earned All America and All New England honors. Senior Jim Forrest had a stellar winter season, placing first in the long jump and high jump at both the New England and ECAC Division III championships. Senior John Desforge and sophomores Tom Maher, Jamie Shankle and Mike Robinson also earned All New England certificates.



Men's Track and Field
(Mass. State Conference Champions)

The Westfield State track and field juggernaut continued its winning ways, as it ran away with its eighth consecutive Mass. State conference championship and the 14th in the past 17 years. The Running Owls didn't fare as well in the New England Division III championships, however, as they were missing two of their key performers, including All America hurdler Thad Lopes. Westfield finished 10th in the meet, but the following week the Owls placed a strong 13th in the All New England championships.

Senior Miles Woodhouse, a five-time All America and nine-time national qualifier, capped an outstanding career by earning All America and All New England honors in the triple jump. He also was a double winner in the conference meet, claiming his specialty and the 400 hurdles.

Lopes just missed giving veteran coach Gerry Gravel his first national champion as he was nipped in photo finish in the 400 hurdles at the NCAA Division III championships. The long legged sophomore was a conference double winner in the 110 hurdles and 400 meter run, and raised some more eyebrows by placing second in the 400 hurdles in the New England (all divisions) championships.

Other conference champions and All New England performers included sophomore Tom Maher, junior Lance Campbell and senior Glenn Kasparian. Maher, who ran a school record 1:51.67 in the 800 meter run, and Campbell also qualified for the national championships. Distance runners Mark Curry and Kevin O'Brien rounded out Westfield's list of nine conference titlists. O'Brien, a senior Academic All America nominee, won his third straight 10,000 meter crown.

Women's Track and Field

Women's Track and Field

The Westfield State women's track and field team did not have a conference title to compete for, but it did place a close second in the Westfield State Invitational.

The team, coached by WSC alumnus Doug Allen, had four All New England Division III performers. Sophomore javelin thrower Kim Hatstat had an noteworthy season, placing high in four meets. She won the Williams Invitational with a meet record toss, was second in the Fitchburg Invitational and the New England finals, and finished fifth in the ECAC championships. Linda Phillips was second in the 1500 at the New England Division III finals, and hurdler Sue O'Malley and middle distance Lorien O'Connor placed fifth.

Women's Indoor Track and Field

The women placed ninth in the New England Division III championships in their first year of indoor competition. Freshman high jumper Kristy Paciorek led the Lady Owls by claiming the ECAC and New England Division III titles. She went on to place 12th at the national championships. Underclassman distance runners Linda Phillips, Debbie Marseglia and Lorien O'Connor also were All New England performers.

BASEBALL

(10-21, 5-9 conference)

In terms of wins and losses the Westfield State baseball team didn't have a successful 1990 season, posting a 10-21 record. Looking beyond the subpar mark, however, you could see some positive signs of the Owls returning as a New England contender under the direction of first-year head coach John Jones.

A chief reason the Owls won just one-third of their games was the challenging schedule they faced. Twelve of Westfield's 22 opponents were either nationally ranked or participated in post-season tournaments. The Owls were 1-5 on their southern trip, playing four nationally ranked schools, and they finished with a 9-16 northern trip to nearly duplicate their 1989 record of 9-15.

The Owls finished first among the best of the rest in the eight-team Mass. State Conference with a 5-9 record. There was a three-way tie for first place (11-3 records) between Bridgewater, Salem and North Adams, while Framingham was 9-5. One of the highlights of the Westfield season was a 5-2 victory over Framingham and its all conference pitcher Marc White. The Owls also defeated another ECAC tournament team, Western Connecticut, by a 6-5 score.

The young Westfield pitching staff had an ERA of 7.18 with 155 walks in 228 innings. Bullpen stopper Colin Connelly did set a school record for most relief appearances in a season (14), while southpaw Tim Santry, another sophomore transfer, posted the team's lowest ERA of 3.28.

"Our inexperience showed," said Jones. "Our pitching staff had only pitched 30 innings of college ball before this season."

The rookie coach was more satisfied with his team's progress at the plate, as the Owls developed into a good hitting unit with a .297 team average. Noticeably absent, however, was the long ball, as they belted only five home runs on the season.

The biggest surprise was freshman Dave Goodwin, who was named second team all conference. The left handed hitting first baseman batted .446 (29-for-65), the second best in Westfield State history.

Junior outfielder Joe Grasso also had an outstanding season hitting .411, the ninth best in WSC history. Grasso, a first team all conference pick, led the team with 94 at bats, 39 hits and 11 stolen bases. He was consistent the entire season and did not strike out in the first 19 games.

Seniors Frank Morrissey and Bob Galvani were the other regulars to hit over .300. Morrissey, a second team all conference outfielder, batted .351 with team-high seven doubles and three triples. He also led all outfielders with five assists. Galvani batted .337 with a team-high 15 walks.

"Frank and Bob didn't have impressive statistics coming into this year, but they worked hard during the offseason and it paid off," said Jones. "They were leaders on and off the field."

Softball

(7-18 overall, 5-7 conference)

The softball team suffered its third losing season in Joyce O'Donnell's 11 years of coaching at Westfield. The young team, which featured only two seniors and one junior, did show signs of its potential in upset victories over Salem State, Williams College and defending New York state champ Albany.

Carolyn Malley, the team's only four-year player, earned several deserved awards. She received the team's most outstanding contributor award and was named first team all conference at first base. Malley, who played four different positions in her four years at Westfield, set school records for most sacrifice hits in a season (16) and career (30).

Sophomore second baseman Heather Cabral and freshman center fielder Paula Eaton were named second team all conference. Cabral, also an all conference field hockey player, finished with a team-high .351 batting average. The speedy Eaton hit .325 and stole a conference-high 23 bases. Freshman third baseman Meg Donnell hit .302, while freshman pitcher Reneé Ancora was among the conference leaders in strikeouts with 41.

In Memoriam

By RON CHIMELIS

Former local collegiate basketball coach Hilton White, 57, died at Mercy Hospital in June of 1990.

White, who coached men's basketball at American International and Westfield State colleges, was the current women's coach at Westfield.

Springfield College Athletic Director Ed Bilik remembered White as a basketball coach, but more so as a man.

Both the coach and the man will be missed, Bilik said last night upon hearing of White's death.

Westfield State officials reported yesterday that White had died two months after suffering a second stroke from which he never recovered. He had been the women's basketball coach at the college since 1985, and previously coached the men's team for five seasons.

White had suffered a first stroke several years ago. In the second half of the 1980's, he concentrated on building the women's basketball program at Westfield State, though his previous experience had been with men's teams.

"He was very, very knowledgeable about the game," said Bilik, who coached against White in the 1970s, when Bilik guided Springfield and White was at American International College.

"Hilton's teams were always well-prepared," Bilik continued. "He was always a gentleman and a professional, too, and I always respected that."

White's 17-year coaching record was 188-221, but the legacy he left was one of class.

Westfield State Athletic Director Paul Bogan was on vacation and could not be reached for comment last night, but college Sports Information Director Mickey Curtis said White would be missed.

"He was well-liked around here," said Curtis, who worked with White since taking the SID job 2½ years ago. "He did a lot for our college."

White made an unusual and difficult transition from men's to women's coaching and enjoyed success in building up the program. Since taking over the Owls' women's team in 1985, White fashioned a 65-55 record, including 53-42 over the last four years. The 1987-88 team was 18-7, qualifying for the ECAC playoffs with the second-best season in school history.

With the AIC men's team., White was 67-98 from 1970-77. He also coached four summers in Puerto Rican basketball.

A top player at New York City's DeWitt Clinton High, White later played for Benedict College (S.C.) in the late 1950s. He was a four-year college starter who was recently inducted into Benedict's Hall of Fame.

White's coaching career began in the U.S. Army where he played and coached for two years. He later went to AIC, where he assisted with the men's program that reached postseason play for three straight seasons.

He joined the AIC faculty in 1966, four years before becoming head coach.

His final 13 years had been spent as a psychology professor.

Bilik was moved by word of White's death, pausing to recall the years he spent coaching against White. They were years in which Springfield was continuing a longstanding basketball tradition, and AIC was doing likewise with a program that blossomed in the 1960s.

IT'S ABOUT TIME . . .

In the year 2089, a future generation of Westfield State College students will break open a time capsule buried on campus and look at a little bit of what's now making history.

The Commuter Council came up with the idea of a time capsule to help commemorate the college's sesquicentennial, and sought imput from every teaching, administrative, and social group, from the president's office to student senate, from the alumni office to the college bookstore.

Juniors Sandy Michaelian and Jay Martineau contacted Industrial Sheet Metal of Northampton to design a stainless steel box containing the "relics" of 1989.

What's inside? A yearbook (of course); a clay bust of retired artist and art professor Arno Maris; a football helmet; a copy of the Owl; a concert ticket stub from Great Woods; a copy of the college budget (such as it is); a course list; Campus Center Rules and Regulations; and more. Some contributions are on videotape or microchip — which, Sandy predicts, will be obsolete by the time the capsule is resurrected and opened.

So if you plan to be around for the next 100 years or so, hang onto your VCR. It might come in handy.

Editor's Note

Well, here it is TEKOA 1990. As glad as I am to see it finished, a feeling of sadness overcomes me. I have met a lot of great people throughout my years as editor. I know I will miss them and maybe even all of the work and stress that comes with the editor title.

TERESA MARTONE . . . you were much more than a co-editor, you were my right hand (and often my left too!). I thank you from the bottom of my heart for EVERYTHING!! Without you this book would still be sitting in the office unfinished. Just think no more CA921!! Thanks again and best wishes for TEKOA 1991.

JOHN MORYTKO . . . Where do I begin?? Thank you ever so

BOB MAILLOUX . . .

JEANNE JULIAN . . . much for everything you have done for me and TEKOA. You have all become very important people in my life and I will never forget you. I will be in touch to haunt you about the progress of TEKOA in the years to come. I still can't believe that I survived being editor for three years and somehow managed to finally graduate!

MARK FEELEY . . . I can only say thank you for all of your time and beautiful pictures. Without you and your photographers there would be an awful lot of blank space in the book. I wish you the best of luck for the future.

MICKEY CURTIS . . . thank you for all of your time, undying support and contributions to the sports section. Your time and effort has not gone unnoticed!!

STACEY JOHNS . . . I cannot thank you enough for all of your help. With help from Michelle Sheehan you ran the business end of TEKOA with ease. Your commitment went further with your constant support and flow of ideas and suggestions. Best wishes for your teaching career.

SHARON VOGHT . . . thank you for your dedication to TEKOA. It was great to see that at least one senior (outside of the editorial staff) was interested in the yearbook. Good luck for much success in the future.

APT. 3A1 (especially AME) . . . thank you for putting up with me. Between teaching, TEKOA, M.T.G. and everything else I did I know that I was not always easy to live with!! You were all very supportive and always assured me that this would be the best yearbook ever.

DONNIE & EVA HUME . . . thanks for putting up with my frequent summer visits. Without your generous hospitality I would have never found the time to meet deadlines.

CHRISTINA LOMBARDI . . . I owe you my sanity (what's left of it!). I cannot begin to thank you enough for everything. You are a very special person! Thanks for being there day and night for me! Best wishes for the future.

APT. 3A2 (especially BRIAN & TERRY) . . . thank you for listening to all of my stress and crazy ideas. You were always ready to give me the encouragement I needed to go on.

MICHAEL FALCETTI . . . thank you for everything. Without your support and encouragement I honestly don't think this book would have ever been completed. You tried to be there for me as much as possible. I do appreciate it!!

TO THE CLASS OF 1990 . . . I hope that looking through this yearbook brings back the precious memories obtained throughout the years at Westfield State College. On behalf of the TEKOA '90 staff I would like to wish each and every one of you the best of luck for the future.

Best Wishes,
Linda Backner
